Municipal Xmas Tree Abandoned

Gettysburg will be without a municipal Christmas tree or trees, as has been the custom for a number of years. Each year, the diamond in Center Square has been graced with electrically lighted Christmas trees, lending a Yuletide touch to the "heart of the town" during the season of rejoicing and merry-making.

The Gettysburg Rotary Club had planned to erect a municipal tree, one large one, or several smaller ones at each light standard around the diamond, but this project has been abandoned for this year. The Christmas activities of the Rotarians will be confined to cooperation with the Gettysburg Fire Department in its annual Christmas party for Gettysburg youngsters at the engine house.

It has been the custom of these companies, for a number of years, to distribute bonuses to employees at Christmas time and the companies are again distributing a bonus, this year, to all employees. This bonus is a percentage of the wages earned by the respective employees during the year.

The companies have worked full time throughout the entire year and have required a larger number of employees than in previous years. Therefore, the bonuses are larger and total approximately $20,000. Each participant's share is given in the form of a handsomely engraved Christmas check.

The plants resume operations full on Monday morning, December 28. There will be no New Year holiday.

MOTORISTS MUST HAVE TAGS JAN. 1

No Extension of Time Will be Granted After January 1
For Car Owners Without New 1926
Licenses.

Motorists of Gettysburg and vicinity who do not receive their Pennsylvania state license tags for 1926 before midnight on December 31, next, will either have to keep their cars in their garages or face arrest for operating them without the new licenses. Quite a number of motorists of this section have not sent in their fees for next year and consequently do not have their tags. The majority, however, have procured their license plates for next year and are proudly displaying them on their machines.

There will be no extension of time for automobile owners who have been delinquent in securing their new tags. Pennsylvania's highway patrolmen have been ordered to arrest persons not displaying 1926 motor tags on January 1, and the State Highway department will ask for imposition of fines for violations, according to an announcement from the Highway Department recently, because state officials consider automobile owners have had ample time to obtain new registrations.

William H. Connell, acting secretary, said in a statement: "There is no reason why an extension of time should be granted, and none will be granted. This applies to not only on state highways, but in every part of Pennsylvania. During the last week this department has handled approximately 150,000 applications and broke records to get the tags to owners."

Dickery- Dickety Dock-- 'Smatter With the Court House Clock

"Its eyes are fixed,
"Its hands are still,
"Its voice is hushed,
"Its heart is chill."

One of Gettysburg's several embryo poets stood on the corner of Baltimore and Middle streets, this morning, his eyes turned heavenward as though seeking inspiration to arouse him to strike the cords of his poetic lyre.

Poetic inspirations were rare this morning on account of the sudden drop in temperature which brought to the "poor poet" thoughts of a dimming coal pile, a carnivorous glowing furnace mouth, and a prolongation of the anthracite coal strike.

However, gazing skyward the poet's eyes rested on the cupola of Gettysburg's historic court house to learn what time it was his wife told him to return home. Bewildered spread over the poet's features when he saw the hands of the court house clock fixed and motionless at 3:15, although he surmised that it was not yet mid-forenoon. One thing was certain the 3:15 was not a. m., the poet thought.

Suddenly his face lit up with inspiration as he drew pencil and paper from his pocket and started jotting down the four-line "verse" which appears at the top of this story. After writing it, he came to the office of The Gettysburg Times and asked the editor to print his "effort."

To determine whether the poet had based his expression on fact or fancy, a reporter went to the court house, and from officials there learned that the venerable four-faced clock has been out of the running for several months. Raymond E. Deardorff, clerk to the county commissioners, said he has been authorized to have a mechanic put the clock's works into running order again.

Someone remarked that if the clock was not "so four-faced" it would not have stopped, that in its evil machinations the works have become twisted and could no longer tell the truth. Another remarked that something must be done with the timepiece, because there are rumors of a fine, high-sounding town clock to be placed on a large building in the center of town, which may eventually put the court house instrument out of business.

Hopes For White Christmas Vanish

Gettysburg viewed with considerable pleasure the threat of a snow storm that touched this community yesterday afternoon and early last evening. However all thoughts of a white Christmas vanished within a few moments, when the snow, a few flakes of which started to fall, soon ceased and all was "green again." Official weather predictions are that Gettysburg will see a green Christmas this year.

In the Middle West, and reaching as far east as Ohio, a regular mid-winter blizzard has developed and those folks are assured of a "white" Christmas.

POST OFFICE IS JAMMED AS XMAS PRESENTS ARRIVE

Eleven Extra Workers Help To Keep
Mail Distributed
Each Day.

On a mountain of incoming mail, Santa Claus entered the Gettysburg post office today. The spirit of Christmas as represented by Yuletide greeting cards, letters and exchange gifts permeated every nook and cranny of the post office today while regular and special employees worked at capacity and overtime to clear away the deluge before the peak is reached on Thursday.

A gay old Santa Claus rode atop a pile of 92 sacks of incoming mail taken from the 9:20 o'clock Reading train, after it had "docked" here this morning. Augmenting the several pouches of first class mail were score after score of bulging sacks of parcel post matter, most of the contents representing Christmas for men and women, girls and boys of Gettysburg and vicinity.

Monumental Task

The inflow of mail matter at the local postoffice this morning threw temporary concern into the hitherto smooth-workings of the force, from Postmaster R. C. Miller down to the employee doing the most trivial task; but the scare was only momentary, as the postmaster rallied his force and the monumental task of sorting and resorting the mail for distribution was undertaken with vim and vigor.

"So far we have been cleaning up the various consignments of incoming mail each day," Postmaster Miller asserted, as he removed his coat and started making the initial sorting of first class mail.

The beginning of this week witnessed much Christmas mail, both incoming and outgoing, passing through the local office, according to Postmaster Miller, adding, "And we thought we had the public educated to do its Christmas mailing early." But this morning, the genial, round post- (Continued on Second Page)

2 MEN ESCAPE INJURY IN CAR CRASH; ARRESTED

Local Men Held On Liquor Charges Following Smash-up Tuesday Evening.

After escaping injury in almost miraculous manner, after the machine in which they were riding struck a concrete wingwall of a bridge on the Littlestown-Taneytown road, Paul E. King, West High street, and William Patterson, Chambersburg street, were arrested by state police Tuesday evening and lodged in the county jail.

King faces two charges,—one of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, and the other transporting liquor illegally,—and is being held under $1,000 bail on the two counts. Patterson is charged with the illegal possession of liquor. His bail was fixed this morning at $500.

When Corporal Samuel S. Mollenkoff, Trooper Buckbee and County Detective Charles H. Wilson arrived on the scene where King's car had hit the concrete abutment, Patterson was stretched out in the car, his head and shoulders over the side, protruding through a wire fence, the officers said, while King was sitting on top of his prone companion.

Car Badly Damaged
The car, damaged beyond repair, was lying almost on its side, and was kept from toppling into the stream some feet below, by the wire fence through which Patterson's head had gone. During his experience as a police officer, Corporal Mollenkoff said he never saw a car so badly damaged as King's, nor an accident in which the occupants had escaped injury in so miraculous a manner.

A call for state and county police was received here Tuesday evening, and the three officers went to the scene on the Littlestown-Taneytown road, where, it was reported, a car "driven by a drunken man" had collided with the machine of Samuel Staley, according to Officer Mollenkoff. The two occupants of the car which struck Staley's machine are said by Corporal Mollenkoff to have wanted to fight, but passing motorists separated the would-be combatants, and also notified the troop headquarters here of the alleged intoxicated condition of the two men.

Liquor Is Found
Both King and Patterson were under the influence of liquor when the officers came upon them, Corporal Mollenkoff stated, adding that both staggered and would have fallen had they not been supported after being taken from the wrecked automobile. Two pints of liquor were found in King's possession, and one pint in Patterson's possession, said the local officers.

Patterson is said by the state trooper to have been bemoaning his fate, when the officers arrived, in this fashion: "Well, you brought me along with you, and got me drunk and now you've got me in trouble."

ANNOUNCEMENT

To accommodate local merchants in their final presentation of Christmas suggestions and offerings in the advertising columns, The Gettysburg Times today is required to omit the regular installment of the serial story, "The Unholy Three." The story will be resumed tomorrow with the installment that was scheduled to appear today; hence readers will not miss any of it.

Following custom since the founding of this newspaper, there will be no issue of The Times on Friday, Christmas Day.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Dec. 23.—Active bidding for high priced industrial shares at the opening of today's market carried forward the rally which featured yesterday's late trading. An upward tendency prevailed throughout the morning. Shares which were easy to mark up because of the narrow supply scored sensational advances. Retention of the six per cent renewal rate for call money was ignored in speculation operations.

Dickery- Dicky Dock-- 'Smatter With the Court House Clock

"Its eyes are fixed,
"Its hands are still,
"Its voice is hushed,
"Its heart is chill."

One of Gettysburg's several embryo poets stood on the corner of Baltimore and Middle streets, this morning, his eyes turned heavenward as though seeking inspiration to arouse him to strike the cords of his poetic lyre.

Poetic inspirations were rare this morning on account of the sudden drop in temperature which brought to the "poor poet" thoughts of a diminishing coal pile, a carnivorous glowing furnace mouth, and a prolongation of the anthracite coal strike.

However, gazing skyward the poet's eyes rested on the cupola of Gettysburg's historic court house to learn what time it was his wife told him to return home. Bewilderment spread over the poet's features when he saw the hands of the court house clock fixed and motionless at 3:15, although he surmised that it was not yet mid-forenoon. One thing was certain the 3:15 was not a. m., the poet thought.

Suddenly his face lit up with inspiration as he drew pencil and paper from his pocket and started jotting down the four-line "verse" which appears at the top of this story. After writing it, he came to the office of The Gettysburg Times and asked the editor to print his "effort."

To determine whether the poet had based his expression on fact or fancy, a reporter went to the court house, and from officials there learned that the venerable four-faced clock has been out of the running for several months. Raymond E. Deardorff, clerk to the county commissioners, said he has been authorized to have a mechanic put the clock's works into running order again.

Someone remarked that if the clock was not "so four-faced" it would not have stopped, that in its evil machinations the works have become twisted and could no longer tell the truth. Another remarked that something must be done with the timepiece, because there are rumors of a fine, high-sounding town clock to be placed on a large building in the center of town, which may eventually put the court house instrument out of business.

Hopes For White Christmas Vanish

Gettysburg viewed with considerable pleasure the threat of a snow storm that touched this community yesterday afternoon and early last evening. However all thoughts of a white Christmas vanished within a few moments, when the snow, a few flakes of which started to fall, soon ceased and all was "green again." Official weather predictions are that Gettysburg will see a green Christmas this year.

In the Middle West, and reaching as far east as Ohio, a regular mid-winter blizzard has developed and those folks are assured of a "white" Christmas.

POST OFFICE IS JAMMED AS XMAS PRESENTS ARRIVE

Eleven Extra Workers Help To Keep Mail Distributed Each Day.

On a mountain of incoming mail, Santa Claus entered the Gettysburg post office today. The spirit of Christmas as represented by Yuletide greeting cards, letters and exchange gifts permeated every nook and cranny of the post office today while regular and special employees worked at capacity and overtime to clear away the deluge before the peak is reached on Thursday.

A gay old Santa Claus rode atop a pile of 92 sacks of incoming mail taken from the 9:20 o'clock Reading train, after it had "docked" here this morning. Augmenting the several pouches of first class mail were score after score of bulging sacks of parcel post matter, most of the contents representing Christmas for men and women, girls and boys of Gettysburg and vicinity.

Monumental Task

The inflow of mail matter at the local postoffice this morning threw temporary concern into the hitherto smooth-workings of the force, from Postmaster R. C. Miller down to the employe doing the most trivial task; but the scare was only momentary, as the postmaster rallied his force and the monumental task of sorting and resorting the mail for distribution was undertaken with vim and vigor.

"So far we have been cleaning up the various consignments of incoming mail each day," Postmaster Miller asserted, as he removed his coat and started making the initial sorting of first class mail.

The beginning of this week witnessed much Christmas mail, both incoming and outgoing, passing through the local office, according to Postmaster Miller, adding, "And we thought we had the public educated to do its Christmas mailing early." But this morning, the genial, rotund post-

Old Santa appeared on the scene and distributed pop-corn balls and apples to all those in attendance. Over 250 children were treated. All this took place under a beautifully decorated and electric lighted Christmas tree. The Chamber of Commerce together with the churches of Fairfield also distributed over $50 worth of fuel, clothing and eatables among the poor families of the community. The Christmas spirit ran high and the community was well pleased.

2 MEN ESCAPE INJURY IN CAR CRASH; ARRESTED

Local Men Held On Liquor Charges Following Smash-up Tuesday Evening.

After escaping injury in almost miraculous manner, after the machine in which they were riding struck a concrete wingwall of a bridge on the Littlestown-Taneytown road, Paul E. King, West High street, and William Patterson, Chambersburg street, were arrested by state police Tuesday evening and lodged in the county jail.

King faces two charges,—one of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, and the other transporting liquor illegally,—and is being held under $1,000 bail on the two counts. Patterson is charged with the illegal possession of liquor. His bail was fixed this morning at $500.

When Corporal Samuel S. Mollenkoff, Trooper Buckbee and County Detective Charles H. Wilson arrived on the scene where King's car had hit the concrete abutment, Patterson was stretched out in the car, his head and shoulders over the side, protruding through a wire fence, the officers said, while King was sitting on top of his prone companion.

Car Badly Damaged
The car, damaged beyond repair, according to Corporal Mollenkoff, was lying almost on its side, and was kept from tipping into the stream some feet below, by the wire fence through which Patterson's head had gone. During his experience as a police officer, Corporal Mollenkoff said he never saw a car so badly damaged as King's, nor an accident in which the occupants had escaped injury in so miraculous a manner.

A call for state and county police was received here Tuesday evening, and the three officers went to the scene on the Littlestown-Taneytown road, where, it was reported, a car "driven by a drunken man" had collided with the machine of Samuel Staley, according to Officer Mollenkoff.

The two occupants of the car which struck Staley's machine are said by Corporal Mollenkoff to have wanted to fight, but passing motorists separated the would-be combatants, and also notified the troop headquarters here of the alleged intoxicated condition of the two men.

Liquor Is Found

Both King and Patterson were under the influence of liquor when the officers came upon them, Corporal Mollenkoff stated, adding that both staggered and would have fallen had they not been supported after being taken from the wrecked automobile. Two pints of liquor were found in King's possession, and one pint in Patterson's possession, said the local officers.

Patterson is said by the state trooper to have been bemoaning his fate, when the officers arrived, in this fashion:

"Well, you brought me along with you, and got me drunk and now you've got me in trouble."

ANNOUNCEMENT

To accommodate local merchants in their final presentation of Christmas suggestions and offerings in the advertising columns, The Gettysburg Times today is required to omit the regular installment of the serial story, "The Unholy Three." The story will be resumed tomorrow with the installment that was scheduled to appear today; hence readers will not miss any of it.

Following custom since the founding of this newspaper, there will be no issue of The Times on Friday, Christmas Day.

PIRATES SEIZE
BRITISH VESSEL

Hongkong, Dec. 23.—The British-owned coastal steamer Tungchow, with a number of foreign passengers, some of them women, came into port here Tuesday, having been for four days the prize of Chinese pirates. The pirates had looted her of a quantity of valuables and directed the sailing of the vessel for approximately 1,600 miles. The piracy was the most daring carried out for many years in the China seas. The steamer's British captain was suffering from a bullet wound in the groin, but will recover. All others on board were suffering from the strain of their four-day adventure, but had not been injured by the pirates.

Senator Would Ban
Gossiping In Capital

Washington, Dec. 23.—And now Congress would withdraw the most prized privilege of those who live in the capital. Senator William H. King, of Utah, has introduced a bill in the Senate which would make it unlawful to repeat maliciously false rumors respecting the character or standing of any person in the District of Columbia. Administrations have been made and have fallen through the rapid communication of such rumors throughout the capital. With so many high officials living in Washington, it always has been a city of many scandals. Senator King denied that any recent scandal had caused him to introduce his measure at this time, and insisted that it was merely a move to make the district slander laws conform to those in vogue in other sections of the country.

NINE DIE WHEN
FIRE BREAKS OUT
IN OHIO MINE PIT

(By Associated Press.)

Bellaire, Ohio, Dec. 23.—Fire believed to have been started when a fall of coal short-circuited an electric light line took a toll of 9 lives at the Webb Mine at Shady Side, near here, last night. Two miners are in a serious condition in a local hospital suffering from shock and gas.

Rescue parties today penetrated to all portions of the mine and reported that no more men were in the working. Early today the fire was still burning fiercely, little efforts having been made to check it until rescue work was completed. Only 79 men of the normal force of more than 600 were at work last night when the fire was discovered. In the rush to escape eleven men were trapped in one of the lower laterals. Rescue workers reached them before midnight and brought survivors to the surface. One man died shortly after being rescued.

Dry Agents Must

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 23.—Prohibition agents were warned today that "reckless, unjustifiable expenditures" during their work in the future would cause their dismissal from the enforcement service. In a letter to prohibition administrators prompted by the recent Mayflower Hotel case in which two agents expended nearly $1,000 Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury declared money for tracing down bootleg suspects must be expended with greater care.

She granted eleven full and fourteen conditional pardons and restored citizenship to seven who had served their terms, bringing her total clemency proclamations for the year to 1,174.

In practically every instance the pardon was recommended by the Board of Pardons or the officials of the county in which the prisoner was sentenced.

Xmas Impels Him
To Confess Crime

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 23.—Clang of Salvation Army bells, glowing faces of Christmas shoppers and bright holly wreaths were too much for Edward Johnson as he walked the streets.

His conscience grew stronger than the sense of caution which had governed his actions for fourteen years, just as he started to pass a police station and Johnson stepped in and up to the desk.

He gave his name, said he was 42 years old and related that on September 21, 1911, he had shot and killed "Denny" Carey in a box car in Newark. He told the police he had entered the car and Carey tried to hold him up. He said he got Carey's revolver after a struggle, shot him and fled.

Carey's body was found several hours afterward.

Johnson was taken to Newark Tuesday to answer a murder indictment found against him in 1911.

Cunningham was located by sheriffs in an adjoining room and said he had taken his "first drink in forty-six years."

MAYOR KENDRICK

Director of Public Safety in Philadelphia Will Return to Marine Corps. He Says.

(By Associated Press.) Philadelphia, Dec. 23.—Mayor Kendrick today formally dismissed General Butler as director of public safety, effective at noon.

The general received the letter of dismissal shortly after the mayor reached his office. It was delivered by the mayor's secretary. A group of friends were in the director's office as he read it quickly.

"Well, I'm out," he explained. "The mayor has fired me. Now we can shoot at him," and the mayor's secretary looked up at him in surprise.

"There's nothing to stop me now. I'm a free man," the general said. Asked of his plans Butler who has been fighting since all over the world said, "I'm going to my home in Overbrook and I'm going to drive there in a car of the United States Marine Corps. The Marines can take care of me, and I'd rather be in the Marine corps than in 15 million cars, like Philadelphia."

SURPLUS OF
COMMON LABOR
IS INCREASING

Winter Brings High Percentage of Extra Common Labor in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg.—The surplus of common labor continues to increase as the winter advances, reports of state employment offices to the department of labor and industry, announced today, show. The reports covered conditions for the first two weeks of December.

Cold weather has retarded outside work, which absorbs much of the common labor supply, and changed conditions generally are not anticipated for some weeks. Industry is taking some of the highest type of this class of workers, especially in the steel centers.

Continued improvement in mining conditions, both as to the number of operations and output, was reported from the Johnstown bituminous coal district. Placements are being made of all miners who are desirous of work. While the demand for union miners in the Pittsburgh district was declared limited, no surplus was reported.

Few placements of skilled mechanics in the building trades were noted. The reports, however, pointed out that the decline in the demand for these workers was seasonal and therefore not unexpected. Inside workers were reported busy in several cities where structures were put under roof before the cold weather sets in.

Output in the metal and machinery industries continued unabated and as a result employment increased. The Pittsburgh office said there was no surplus of high grade steel workers at present. Railroad centers in the state reported a steadily increasing tonnage which necessitated an increase in forces. The surplus of experienced office workers still exceeded the demand, a condition which has prevailed generally throughout the state for a number of months.

The demand for domestic and personal workers showed a decrease and requisitions for this class of workers were filled without delay.

Dawes Does Not Want
Commission In O. R. C.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Vice President Dawes requested President Coolidge to withdraw his nomination to continue as a brigadier-general in the Officers' Reserve Corps, taking the view that the vice president should not hold such high rank. The president acceded to his request and the nomination was withdrawn.

At the White House it was explained the nomination had been transmitted to the Senate Monday without the vice president's knowledge, inasmuch as it was considered routine business. Five years ago Mr. Dawes received a commission on the reserve corps and as the life of the commission expires shortly the president proposed its renewal, as he invariably does when the commissions of others expire.

master was willing to admit that perhaps he had spoken too soon.

Reach Peak Thursday
From present indications, it is believed by post office authorities that the peak of Christmas mail matter in and out of the local office will not be reached until Thursday.

Eight extra employees have been added to the local office force for the holidays, and the three substitutes have been called to regular duty, making eleven additional workers for the Christmas season. "With the augmented force," the postmaster stated, "our regular workers are working just as hard and fast as usual, so that we have been able to distribute and dispatch all incoming and outgoing mail each day."

And while the large workroom in the postoffice was cluttered high with pouches, and the floors were littered with wrappings and parcel post packages, awaiting distribution, the workers toiled with smiles on their faces. No collection or distribution of mail will be made on Christmas Day.

PIRATES SEIZE
BRITISH VESSEL

Hongkong, Dec. 23.—The British-owned coastal steamer Tugchow, with a number of foreign passengers, some of them women, came into port here Tuesday, having been for four days the prize of Chinese pirates. The pirates had looted her of a quantity of specie and valuables and directed the sailing of the vessel for approximately 1,000 miles. The piracy was the most daring carried out for many years in the China seas. The steamer's British captain was suffering from a bullet wound in the groin, but will recover. All others on board were suffering from the strain of their four-day adventure, but had not been injured by the pirates.

Senator Would Ban
Gossiping In Capital

Washington, Dec. 23.—And now Congress would withdraw the most prized privilege of those who live in the capital. Senator William H. King, of Utah, has introduced a bill in the Senate which would make it unlawful to repeat maliciously false rumor respecting the character or standing of any person in the District of Columbia. Administrations have been made and have fallen through the rapid communication of such rumors throughout the capital. With so many high officials living in Washington, it always has been a city of many scandals. Senator King denied that any recent scandal had caused him to introduce his measure at this time, and insisted that it was merely a move to make the district slander laws conform to those in vogue in other sections of the country.

Railroad officials expressed the belief that nitro-glycerine had been used. Large pieces of steel were hurled great distances while windows in nearby dwellings were shattered.

NINE DIE WHEN
FIRE BREAKS OUT
IN OHIO MINE PIT

(By Associated Press.)

Bellaire, Ohio, Dec. 23.—Fire believed to have been started when a fall of coal short-circuited an electric light line took a toll of 9 lives at the Webb Mine at Shady Side, near here, last night. Two miners are in a serious condition in a local hospital suffering from shock and gas.

Rescue parties today penetrated to all portions of the mine and reported that no more men were in the working. Early today the fire was still burning fiercely, little efforts having been made to check it until rescue work was completed. Only 79 men of the normal force of more than 600 were at work last night when the fire was discovered. In the rush to escape eleven men were trapped in one of the lower laterals. Rescue workers reached them before midnight and brought survivors to the surface. One man died shortly after being rescued.

Dry Agents Must
Be Careful How
They Spend Money

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 23.—Prohibition agents were warned today that "reckless, unjustifiable expenditures" during their work in the future would cause their dismissal from the enforcement service. In a letter to prohibition administrators prompted by the recent Mayflower Hotel case in which two agents expended nearly $1,000 Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury declared money for tracing down bootleg suspects must be expended with greater care.

Governor "Ma"
Grants Clemency
To 32 Convicts

Austin, Texas, Dec. 23.—A gift of freedom will be found in the Christmas stockings of thirty-two Texas prisoners as the result of clemency extended by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. She granted eleven full and fourteen conditional pardons and restored citizenship to seven who had served their terms, bringing her total clemency proclamations for the year to 1,174.

In practically every instance the pardon was recommended by the Board of Pardons or the officials of the county in which the prisoner was sentenced.

Xmas Impels Him
To Confess Crime

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 23.—Clang of Salvation Army bells, glowing faces of Christmas shoppers and bright holly wreaths were too much for Edward Johnson as he walked the streets.

His conscience grew stronger than the sense of caution which had governed his actions for fourteen years, just as he started to pass a police station and Johnson stepped in and up to the desk.

He gave his name, said he was 42 years old and related that on September 21, 1911, he had shot and killed "Dinny" Carey in a box car in Newark. He told the police he had entered the car and Carey tried to hold him up. He said he got Carey's revolver after a struggle, shot him and fled.

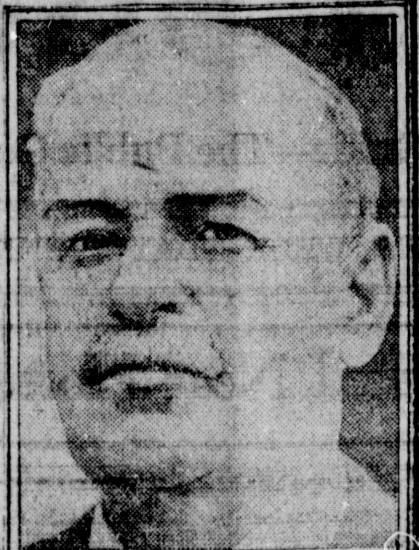

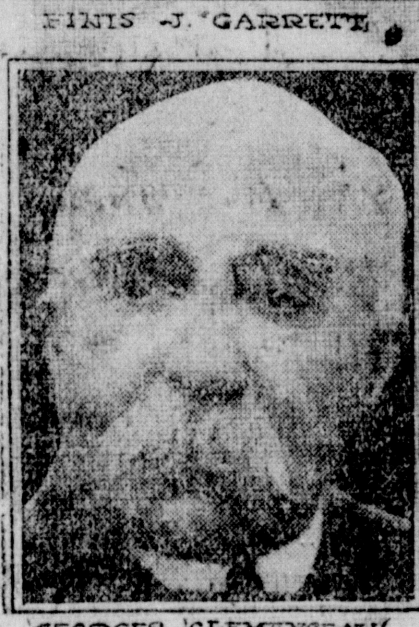

Carey's body was found several hours afterward. Johnson was taken to Newark Tuesday to answer a murder indictment found against him in 1911.

Governor Small of Illinois must account for $1,000,000 interest money declared illegally held by him when State Treasurer.

MAYOR KENDRICK
"FIRES" BUTLER

Members of the committee named to select a site for the proposed United Lutheran College for Women Tuesday inspected the Irving College grounds and buildings to obtain data for a report to the institution's board of trustees.

The committee members spent several hours at the Mechanicsburg institution and announced that they would discuss their findings at a meeting in Philadelphia on December 29.

Buildings were inspected with regard to capacity, utility and possibility of expansion. The college grounds and surroundings also were examined.

Irving is one of two colleges being considered in the effort to pick a site for a Lutheran educational institution. The committee, after its discussion, will submit its recommendations to the trustees.

Death Beats Santa
In Brooklyn Home

Astoria, N. Y., Dec. 23.—Death beat Santa Claus to the home of an Astoria bride. Black crepe yesterday took the place of red holly.

Katherine Planagan a month ago was married to Patrolman James Seymour, who appeared in the news a year ago when wounded while chasing men who had murdered a watchman.

A week ago the bride's father and husband both were stricken with pneumonia. The father died Tuesday in St. Catherine's hospital, Brooklyn. Two hours later the husband died at home. Joint funeral services will be held today.

Thought Girl's
Legs His, Nabbed

New York, Dec. 23.—Felice Gondola was charged in night court Monday night with pinching the leg of a young woman shopper in a department store. Policewoman Catherine Ralyea said she saw him annoy at least a dozen women. Then he pinched the girl's leg and she arrested him. Gondola defended himself in Italian. The interpreter told Magistrate Farrell:

"He says he had an itch and scratched it, and maybe he scratched the wrong leg."

"Held without bail for hearing Wednesday night," said the magistrate. Gondola said he lives at No. 351 West Twentieth street.

MAN FINED $16

Providence, R. I., Dec. 23.—Michael J. Cunningham, a conductor, adjudged in contempt for getting drunk while serving on a jury, was fined $15.88, his compensation and mileage for a week's jury duty, by Judge Arthur P. Sumner in Superior Court Monday. Only eleven members of the jury appeared when the panel reconvened after noon recess to resume hearing of a civil case. Cunningham was located by sheriffs in an adjoining room and said he had taken his "first drink in forty-six years."

SURPLUS OF
COMMON LABOR
IS INCREASING

Winter Brings High Percentage of Extra Common Labor in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg.—The surplus of common labor continues to increase as the winter advances, reports of state employment offices to the department of labor and industry, announced today, showed. The reports covered conditions for the first two weeks of December.

Cold weather has retarded outside work, which absorbs much of the common labor supply, and changed conditions generally are not anticipated for some weeks. Industry is taking some of the highest type of this class of workers, especially in the steel centers.

Continued improvement in mining conditions, both as to the number of operations and output, was reported from the Johnstown bituminous coal district. Placements are being made of all miners who are desirous of work. While the demand for union miners in the Pittsburgh district was declared limited, no surplus was reported.

Few placements of skilled mechanics in the building trades were noted. The reports, however, pointed out that the decline in the demand for these workers was seasonal and therefore not unexpected. Inside workers were reported busy in several cities where structures were put under roof before the cold weather sets in.

Output in the metal and machinery industries continued unabated and as a result employment increased. The Pittsburgh office said there was no surplus of high grade steel workers at present. Railroad centers in the state reported a steadily increasing tonnage which necessitated an increase in forces. The surplus of experienced office workers still exceeded the demand, a condition which has prevailed generally throughout the state for a number of months.

The demand for domestic and personal workers showed a decrease and requisitions for this class of workers were filled without delay.

Dawes Does Not Want
Commission In O. R. C.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Vice President Dawes requested President Coolidge to withdraw his nomination to continue as a brigadier-general in the Officers' Reserve Corps, taking the view that the vice president should not hold such high rank. The president acceded to his request and the nomination was withdrawn.

At the White House it was explained the nomination had been transmitted to the Senate Monday without the vice president's knowledge, inasmuch as it was considered routine business. Five years ago Mr. Dawes received a commission on the reserve corps and as the life of the commission expires shortly the president proposed its renewal, as he invariably does when the commissions of others expire.

100 Reported Dead
In Tokio Fights

Tokio, Dec. 23.—More than one hundred workmen are reported to have been killed or wounded at Turumi during a fight recently.

About fifteen hundred employees of rival contracting companies were in the fight, armed with rifles, revolvers and swords. Hundreds of police and gendarmes surrounded the fighters, preventing the reinforcements, which were rushed from the various camps, from joining the melee. Scores of battlers were arrested.

Turumi is midway between Tokio and Yokohama.

master was willing to admit that perhaps he had spoken too soon.

Reach Peak Thursday

From present indications, it is believed by post office authorities that the peak of Christmas mail matter in and out of the local office will not be reached until Thursday.

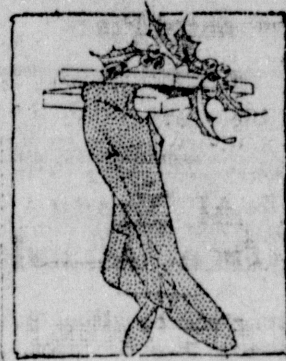

Eight extra employees have been added to the local office force for the holidays, and the three substitutes have been called to regular duty, making eleven additional workers for the Christmas season. "With the augmented force," the postmaster stated, "our regular workers are working just as hard and fast as usual, so that we have been able to distribute and dispatch all incoming and outgoing mail each day."

And while the large workroom in the postoffice was cluttered high with pouches, and the floors were littered with wrappings and parcel post packages, awaiting distribution, the workers toiled with smiles on their faces. No collection or distribution of mail will be made on Christmas Day.

HIGHS TO PLAY LEAGUE BATTLE

Back Reading On Saturday In First Tilt of New Interscholastic League; Scrubs to Play.

(By Don Bee)

Resuming practice on Monday evening after their defeat at the hands of Washington Eastern High, the high school basketball squad was sent through a stiff rehearsal. The team is expected to be in good shape on Saturday, when they meet Reading High. This game marks the opening of the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic League for each team. Steelton and Lebanon High, also members of the league, will also usher in the league season at Lebanon. Coach Reynolds devoted his time on Monday evening, in an effort to secure a running mate for Utz, as Captain Jim Tennant is ineligible for all league games. As the first experiment he put "Screechie" Bream at forward, with big Charlie Lightner taking Bream's place at guard. This combination worked well and the team went through practice better than ever before. The team showed marked improvement in their passing and showed up so well in practice that this team will probably start next Saturday.

On Tuesday evening, the same combination went into action. Showing the same form as that of Monday evening, the boys went through practice with such speed as they have never showed before.

Coach Reynolds was very pleased with the work of the squad and stated that if the team went as good on Saturday as they did in these two practices they would beat Reading and gain their first win of the season.

It was announced this morning that season tickets would be void for the Reading game. Previously one could gain admittance to this game on the season ticket but the Reading and academy games have been reversed. The season ticket will admit one to the academy but will not be good for this Saturday's game.

As a preliminary game, the scrubs will meet the strong Edison High squad and one of the best games of the season is being looked for. This game will start promptly at 7 o'clock.

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints and muscles, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappears and cannot burn the skin. Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacobs Oil" has relieved millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains. Adv.

AN OPEN LETTER

Gettysburg, Pa.,
Dec. 22, 1925.

Mrs. J. L. Butt,
Gettysburg, Pa.
Dear Madam:

I am pleased to send you, herewith,
my personal check for $22.50 representing cash contributions to the Charity Ball fund by persons who were unable to attend and enjoy the dance and party.

While the Charity Ball was conducted with a deficit financially, even above these contributions, yet I feel that the donors, in contributing to the fund without the pleasure that went with attendance at the party, wanted their money to go to the poor. These contributions were:

Judge D. P. McPherson $5.00
State Treasurer S. S. Lewis 5.00
Postmaster Robert C. Miller 5.00
H. T. Weaver 5.00
District Attorney John P. Butt 2.50

Total receipts of the Charity Ball were as follows:

From George Hunter (receipts at door) $112.25
Special contributions (enumerated above) 22.50

Total receipts $134.75

Expenditures were as follows:

Orchestra $55.00
Hall, rental 50.00
Invitations 11.75
Postage 9.00
Refreshments and incidentals 18.70

Total expenditures $144.45

You will note that after deduction of the special contributions, which I am sending you for distribution by you, as you see fit, to the poor for Christmas, there is a total deficit of $32.20 which will be met in full by the writer.

The Charity Ball did not have the public support that we anticipated, and I sincerely regret that we do not have a larger amount to send you to help you in the excellent and noble work you are doing for the needy in the community during the holiday season, and throughout the year.

Sincerely yours,
Herbert L. Grimm,

THE INN-KEEPER MAKES EXCUSES

"Oh, if only I had known,"
Said the keeper of the inn,
"But no hint to me was shown,
And I didn't let them in."

"Yes, a star gleamed overhead,
But I couldn't read the skies,
And I'd given every bed
To the very rich and wise."

"And she was so poorly clad
And he hadn't much to say!
But no room for them I had,
So I ordered them away."

"She seemed tired, and it was late
And they begged so hard, that I
Feeling sorry for her state
In the stable let them lie."

"Had I turned some rich man out
Just to make a place for them,
'Twould have killed, beyond a doubt,
All my trade at Bethlehem."

"Then there came the wise men three
To the stable, with the morn,
Who announced they'd come to see
The great King who had been born."

"And they brought Him gifts of
myrrh,
Costly frankincense and gold
And a great light shone on her
In the stable, bleak and cold."

"All my patrons now are dead
And forgotten, but today
All the world to peace is led
By the ones I sent away."

"It was my unlucky fate
To be born that Inn to own,
Against Christ I shut my gate;
Oh, if only I had known!"

NOTICE FARMERS

It is with pleasure I am blowing my horn to let you know that it paid some farmers to employ Dr. Hudson, as there veterinarian. Within the last year from January 1st, 1925. I have had under treatment 200,024 head of live stock. My loss out of the above number is just eleven head. Now get together farmers, count them up yourselves, then decide on your next veterinarian.

Give a Handbag

Handbags always have their appeal to the ladies. In beaded or leather designs they are very beautiful this year. We find also in looking over our stock that they can be very useful as well as just ornamental. Many of them are quite spacious and all of them are very beautiful and rightly priced. We have a special lot for the kiddies.

The prices run from 50c for the kiddie bags to $5.00 for best ladies' bag.

Give Her a HOOVER

In planning what you will give Her for Christmas, this year, do not overlook her greatest need—the need for more time to spend as she pleases; for an easier way to beat, sweep, and clean her rugs; for a more efficient method than the old fashioned tool she's now using. This is her greatest need and a Hoover will meet it completely. Make the Hoover your gift this year. Complete with dusting tools.

Give a Handbag

Handbags always have their appeal to the ladies. In bead-ed or leather designs they are very beautiful this year. We find also in looking over our stock that they can be very useful as well as just ornamental. Many of them are quite spacious and all of them are very beautiful and rightly priced. We have a special lot for the kiddies.

The prices run from 50c for the kiddy bags to $5.00 for best ladies' bag.

Give Her a HOOVER

In planning what you will give Her for Christmas, this year, do not overlook her greatest need—the need for more time to spend as she pleases; for an easier way to beat, sweep, and clean her rugs; for a more efficient method than the old fashioned tool she's now using. This is her greatest need and a Hoover will meet it completely. Make the Hoover your gift this year. Complete with dusting tools,

Pupils Earn Money To Purchase Milk For Undernourished Kids

Lock Haven.—Five hundred dollars was earned by the pupils in the elementary and high schools here to buy milk for undernourished boys and girls in the lower grades of the schools. The money, which represents the profits from the presentation of an operetta by a cast of school children directed by faculty members, will provide for approximately 100 children who receive free milk daily.

The milk service has been conducted for the past six years. At present, practically every child in the four elementary schools of the city drinks a half pint of milk daily which means that approximately 300 quarts of milk are consumed every day by boys and girls in the first seven grades. Most of the children pay cost of milk for the milk, bringing the money to their teachers weekly. Those who cannot pay are given it without charge.

The milk service also is maintained in the high school, where about one-half the student body takes advantage of the opportunity to drink a half pint of milk and eat a pretzel or cracker at ten o'clock every morning. Straws are provided and ten minutes set aside in the middle of the morning session for the purpose of drinking milk. In the high school the milk drinkers use the long lunch tables and benches provided for students who bring their lunches or patronize the school cafeteria. In the grade schools, the boys and girls drink the milk at their desks. Deliveries of milk in half-pint bottles are made every morning by the milk dealers who received school board contracts for the year's milk service.

High School Girls Insist On Sports

Lock Haven.—When the high school faculty here decided to discontinue its girls' varsity team, the girls of the school retaliated by petitioning the school board for a field on which to play hockey and tennis.

In refusing to sanction a schedule of outside games, the faculty voiced its objection to night train trips, intense competitive games for girls, and playing before mixed crowds. The girls pointed to the large sum spent each year for football and boys' basketball and asked for equal consideration in apportioning athletic expenditures, declaring that by far the larger share of season tickets for school sports were bought by girl students.

The school board is endeavoring to obtain a field which can be used for field hockey, soccer and tennis under the direction of the supervisor of physical education.

Safe Coasting For Children Is Sought

Reading.—Efforts to provide safe coasting facilities for the children of Reading are to be made by members of the Recreation Board. It is planned to ask the city authorities to set aside certain streets for this purpose. The board also plans to organize an additional hiking club, to give its aid to the movement for the construction of wading pools at playground centers, to organize two city-wide basketball tournaments and to cooperate with the Hope Rescue Mission in introducing a constructive program of indoor activities.

Carelessness Is Cause Of Robberies

Uniontown.—Carelessness on the part of the victims is held by police to be responsible for an epidemic of robberies in Uniontown and vicinity. Recently more than a score of house robberies and holdups have been reported.

The officers have issued a warning against the practice of leaving lower windows and doors open when the family is away from home. The police say that thieves have adopted the door bell system. When they visit a house they have marked, they ring the door bell. If they receive response they inquire as to the location of a family in that neighborhood. If there is no response then they force an entrance and ransack the house.

Every section of the city has been visited by burglars recently and lost valued at many thousands of dollars secured.

OH! MY BACK!

Aching Backs Make Life Miserable For Many Gettysburg People.

It isn't right to suffer day in and day out with dull, unceasing backache. Or be utterly miserable with sharp stabs of pain whenever you stoop or lift. But chances are you will suffer from these tormenting aches and pains as long as your weakened kidneys are neglected. You may have headaches, too, spells of dizziness and urinary disorders. Then use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Experiences of folks in this locality prove the merit of Doan's. Roy O. Coulson, carpenter, 718 Broadway, Hanover, Pa., says: "I suffered so from backache I had to stay home from work two or three days at a time. When I got down, stabbing pains cut through my kidneys and it was mighty hard to get up. I became so dizzy I had to sit down and headaches made me miserable. My kidney's didn't act often enough either. Doan's Pills drove the trouble away." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

DOG LICKS NOSE; BETRAYS MASTER

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 23.—A goose quacked in the days of Rome and betrayed an army. A dog licked his nose at the dog show here and betrayed his master.

Oswald Disturber, a Boston terrier bull pup, 4 months old, recently acquired by Mayor Lew Shank, took the blue ribbon in his class and was being favorably considered as the sweepstake champion when he licked his nose, not once, but persistently. One of the judges drew his hand over the dog's nostril and disclosed a faint light "tweak." The judge's fingers were stained with black grease paint. Oswald got a second place.

"Sure, I rubbed a little paint over the light marking," the mayor readily assented. "It was the only thing about him that wasn't perfect perfect. I'll have to teach him not to lick his nose."

Fight To Repeal Fordney Measure

The bill was referred to the Ways and Means Committee, where an effort will be made to pigeonhole as the Republicans, taking their cue from the president, have ordained "there must be no tinkering with the tariff at this session."

CLEAN STREETS HINTED AS XMAS GIFT TO BOROUGH

Councilman Schnurman Scores Merchants Who Sweep Dirt Into Streets.

"Let's give Gettysburg a Christmas present in the form of cleaner streets."

Thus spoke N. B. Schnurman, member of the borough council from the Third Ward.

"What do you mean?" Mr. Schnurman was asked. "Didn't council recently appoint a man whose sole duty it is to sweep the streets and Center Square, and hasn't the public thanked council for taking that step?"

"Yes," the Third Ward councilman agreed, "but I'm afraid a lot of the merchants in Center Square and on the four streets radiating from it are not giving the street cleaner the support and cooperation they should."

Cites Example

The councilman then cited an example. "On a certain street in town, I was passing several business places when I noticed the accumulation of old papers and sweepings on the street in front of these stores. To satisfy my curiosity, I picked up some of the paper, and on several sheets were the names of the business places I had passed. Apparently, the storekeeper, or some one in his employ, had swept the litter on the floor of the store onto the pavement and into the street, where the scraps of paper and dirt become the playthings of the wind."

Councilman Schnurman, it will be remembered, has always been an advocate of a cleaner and brighter Gettysburg, and in council never fails to take advantage of an opportunity to preach his doctrine that "cleanliness is next to godliness." At one session of council, he called attention to the promiscuous spitting on the sidewalks of town, which led council to instruct the police to have the ordinance forbidding that practice strictly enforced thereafter.

Wants Clean Town

Mr. Schnurman was speaking firmly, but not threateningly, when he called upon Gettysburg merchants to help keep the streets cleaner, by stopping the practice of sweeping dust and dirt from their stores into the streets.

"They don't all do it," Councilman Schnurman added, "but the several who don't sweep the litter from their stores into the streets soon become disgusted by the almost general practice of the others, with the result that even those who collect their sweepings become discouraged, and the street becomes the aim of their brooms."

"Let us give Gettysburg a Christmas present in the form of cleaner streets," continued the speaker, "and make the Battlefields town one of spotless beauty, of which our own citizens will be proud, and which will leave a lasting impression of beauty on our millions of visitors."

Local Man Wedded Wednesday Evening

Miss Hazel Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Snyder, Biglerville, and Roger Wehler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wehler, Gettysburg, were united in marriage at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening by the Rev. H. W. Sternat at the Lutheran parsonage in Biglerville. The bride was attended by Miss Pauline Patterson and the groom by his brother, Wilbur Wehler. The double ring ceremony of the Lutheran church was used.

Sunday School Gives Purse To Local Pastor

The Sunday school of the Gettysburg Methodist Episcopal church, at its Christmas entertainment, Wednesday evening, presented the pastor, the Rev. C. C. Cole, and family with a purse, containing a substantial sum. Thoroughly surprised, Rev. Mr. Cole said he was at loss for words to express his great appreciation for the tribute.

ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH OF CHRIST TO BE OBSERVED

Gettysburg Will Pay Homage On Greatest Feast Day Of Calendar Year.

Nineteen-hundred and twenty-five years ago, Jesus of Nazareth was born—born in a manger, in Bethlehem.

Tomorrow, in the anniversary of His birth, all the Christian world will pay homage and respect; the methods and manners of observing the anniversary date will vary considerably, according to the section of the world and its prevailing customs.

In Gettysburg, stores will close; office doors will be locked; tired clerks will have concluded a business rush that has held sway for several weeks; most of the other business places which remain open the year-round will be closed in quiet observance of the birthday of the Almighty.

Day Of Rejoicing

It will be a day of rejoicing, gladness and merry-making; gifts will be lavished on favorite and loved ones; in homes made desolate by the unfortunate circumstances of poverty or lack of worldly goods there will be injected Christmas gladness and Yuletide spirit by those generously inclined individuals and organizations for which this community is noted.

Gettysburg will observe the day in fitting fashion.

Beginning shortly before midnight tonight, and continuing on through Christmas Day and the following two days, including the Sunday-after-Christmas, churches of town will house members of their congregation and some strangers, as Christmas chimes will ring out the glad tidings of the year. The story of the birth of Christ will be retold in song, story and in Gospel preaching. Pastors will invoke the blessings upon all who desire to share in the observance of the greatest feast of the year.

Youthful Celebrants

Children will play a prominent part in the festivities. In strange contrast to that cold winter night nineteen-hundred and twenty-five years ago, when the Babe in the Manger first drew the breath of life, the youngsters of the world will herald his coming, according to the teachings of the church. These little tots are well acquainted with the story of the birth. They have been taught to sing it and to repeat it in story form. Few, indeed, are unacquainted, and their little voices will sound out in glad some tune. Even their little hearts are made the lighter, if possible, because of the cheerful atmosphere that has permeated the Christian world.

And tomorrow will see the beginning of new things.

HOSPITAL REPORT

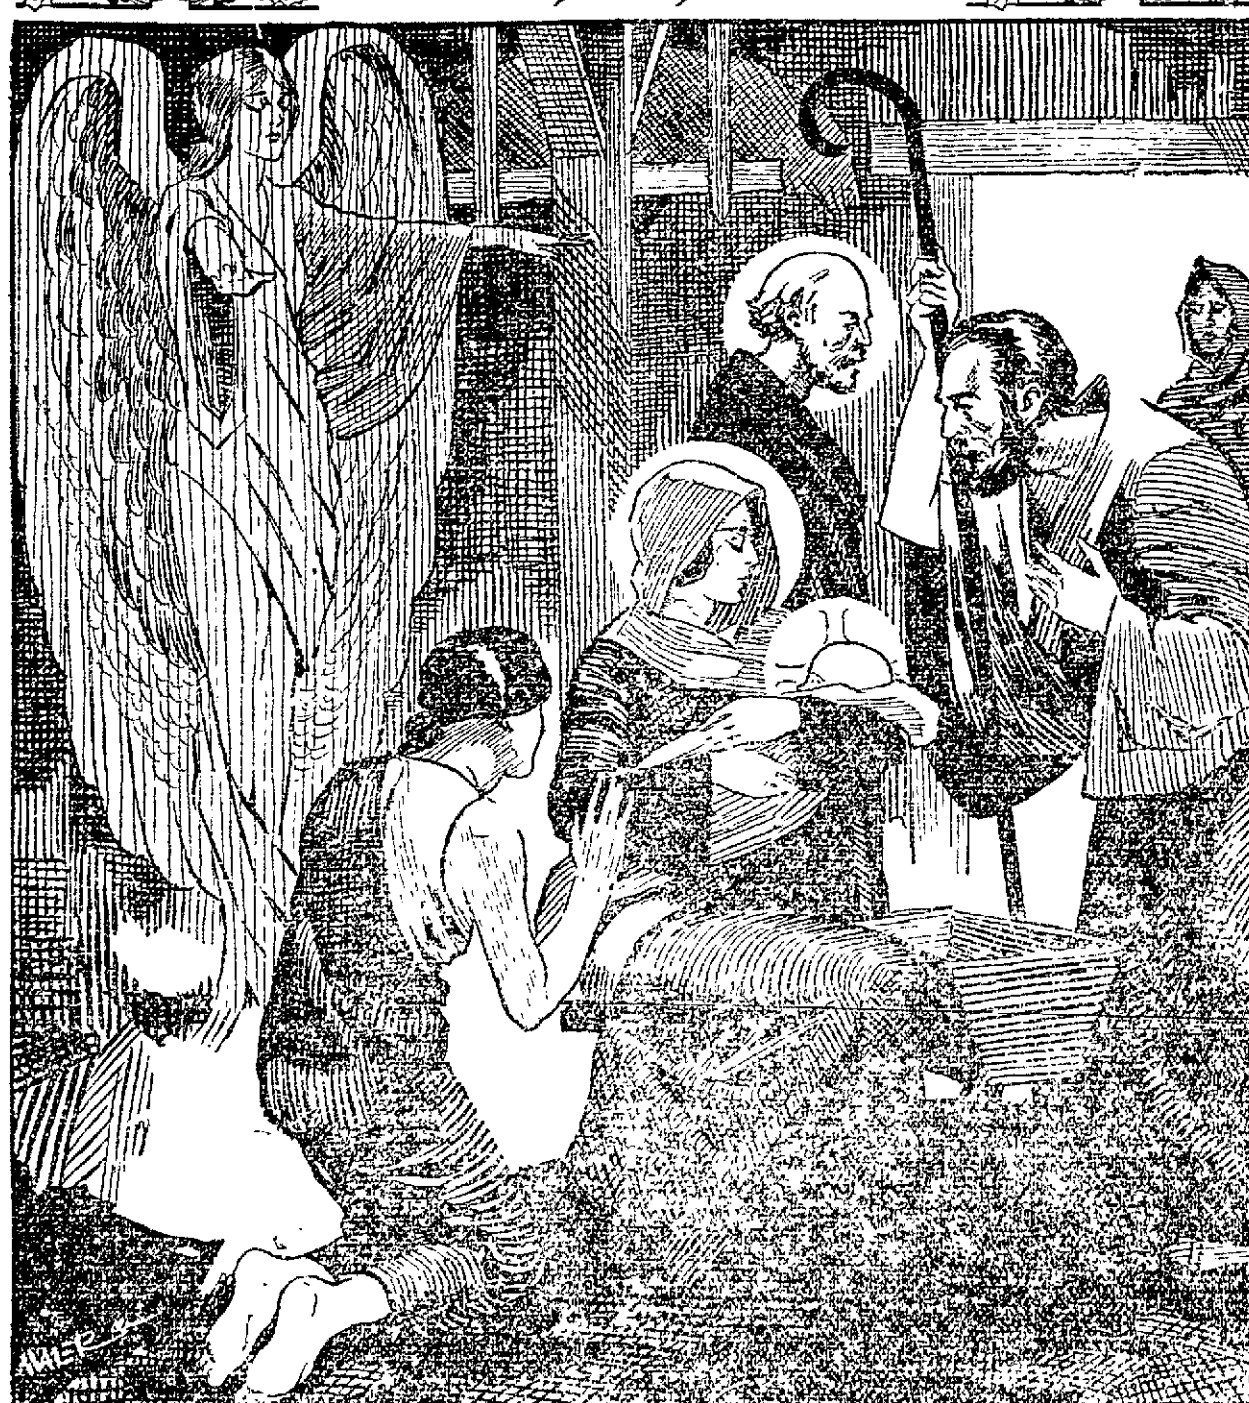

Alvin Hyser, Littlestown, Route 1, was admitted as a patient to the Warner Hospital, Emory Raffensperger, Biglerville Route 2; Wilmer Sowers, York Springs, and Mrs. Floyd Baker, Gettysburg R. D., were discharged as patients.

So that our employees may be able to enjoy the holiday season to the utmost, we will close our establishment Friday, December 25, and Saturday, December 26. In their behalf we ask the indulgence of those of our patrons who will be inconvenienced by this arrangement. The John C. Lower Company.

We have a few very attractive dolls left which we have greatly reduced for quick selling. G. W. Weaver & Son.

Our store will be closed Christmas Day and will not be open until one o'clock Saturday p. m. Dougherty & Hartley.

MENGES SEEKS MORE PENSION

Increased Rate Is Sought by York-Adams Representative For Widows of Two Counties.

Increase of pensions to 23 government pensioners in York and Adams counties are called for in bills introduced in the house of representatives yesterday by Congressman Franklin Menges.

The cases covered in Mr. Menges' bill are Civil War veterans who are now receiving pensions from the federal government, but whose pensions are limited by law because they were married subsequent to 1905. Mr. Menges' bills would increase the monthly pension rate in most of these cases from $50 to $50. The congressman holds affidavits in each case to show that the pensioner is aged or helpless, and with little or no other source of support except the pension. The bills have been referred to the house committee on invalid pensions. Those who would benefit by increases of pensions through Mr. Menges' bills are:

Mary S. Heidler, Lovina Becker, Louisa Gruver, Anna Marie Bailey, Ellen A. McCleary, Catherine E. Raffensperger, Mary Shewell, Annie Hoover, Justina Wanner, Anna M. Ziegler, Mary A. Good, Maggie Sponsler, Mary E. Thomas, Catherine Markle, Mary Oaster, Jenny E. Starry, Lydia Ann Stare, Mary A. Shauk, Joanna A. Lawrence, Sallie C. Stahl, Julia Ann Carver, Elizabeth Howard and Eliza C. Matthias.

Bury Mrs. Fiscel Wednesday Afternoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Mary Fiscel, who died Monday morning, were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her home on Hanover street, the Rev. C. C. Cole, pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery. Pallbearers were W. I. Oyler, Oscar Dear-dorff, Levi Dear-dorff, Clayton Strick-houser, Reuben Schwartz and Andrew Weikert.

WHEN THE ROSES BLOOM IN WINTER

Samuel M. Hartzell, West Middle street, has "the last rose of summer" as a Christmas present. Ready to burst into bloom is a red, rosy bud on a bush in the yard of his home, which today gave evidence of blooming by Christmas day. Three other buds on the bush are more retarded in their growth, but with moderating weather these, also, may bloom, perhaps between Christmas and New Year's Day.

According to Mr. Hartzell, the blooming rose bush has not been protected from the autumnal frosts other than the covering of the roots.

Thousands Killed In China Disorder

(By Associated Press.)

Pekin, Dec. 24.—Marshal Feng's national army entered Tien Tsen this morning after several days of fighting in which thousands were killed or wounded. The troops of General Li, civil governor of Chihli, and Feng's army, are fleeing in disorder. Chaos reigns in the native quarter of the city where soldiers attached to the defeated army are engaged in looting. Foreign volunteers and troops are protecting the gates of the foreign settlement which are barricaded.

MAN TOO LATE FINDS GUN WORKS

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 24.—After placing the last trinket on a Christmas tree which he had prepared for his young daughter, Bryan Coleman, 27, shot himself today and died two hours later.

"I wonder if this blame thing works," Coleman remarked as he pulled the trigger of the revolver.

AIR LEAGUE WANTS MITCHELL

Washington, Dec. 24.—Colonel William Mitchell, sentenced by court martial to five years suspension from the army, has been asked by the Aerial League of America to become its general director and to supervise the organization's plan for air development.

Local Men Fail To Furnish Bail, Are Held In Jail

Unless they can raise $1500 bail, Paul E. King and William Patterson, both of Gettysburg, arrested Tuesday evening by state and county police, charged with violation of the dry laws, will spend Christmas in jail. King and Patterson entered pleas of guilty to the three charges against the two of them when they were arraigned before Justice J. L. Hill, Wednesday evening.

King is charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and illegal transportation of intoxicants, while Patterson is faced with the charge of illegal possession. The men were arrested Tuesday evening and after their car was wrecked on the Littlestown-Taneytown road.

Both King and Patterson waived a preliminary hearing when called before Magistrate Hill, entering pleas of guilty. Unable to furnish $1500 bail, they were remanded to jail.

Hold-Up Man Shows No Xmas Sentiment

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 24.—Christmas is no time for a hold-up man to get sentimental in the opinion of one who held up a Broadway millinery shop and stole $900 from a cash drawer at midnight.

Mrs. Pauline Turner, proprietor of the shop, and her sister begged the robber to leave a little money behind. "Nothing doing," he replied. "It's too near Christmas."

Washington Halts For Christmas Day

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 24.—The spirit of Christmas engulfed Washington today as the government even the important affairs of state as Santa Claus aided by grown-ups and children made last minute preparations to be king for a day.

With Congress already in adjournment until after New Year's, the wheels of government began slowly to run down today for an almost complete holiday stop of three days.

If you are still in doubt about that Christmas present, why not make it a year's subscription to the Gettysburg Times, paid in advance by you, for the one you want to remember? It will be acceptable to any one, whether at home or away from home.

Mrs. Samuel M. Hartzell, West Middle street, returned today from Cedar Keys, Florida, where she had been called by the serious illness of her half-sister. Three weeks ago, Mrs. Hartzell was summoned to Cedar Keys by the critical illness of her relative. On the day the Gettysburg woman arrived in the Florida city, her half-sister died.

Special Christmas Dinners To Be Served At Hospital, Jail, County Home.

Inmates of Adams county's three public institutions, the Annie M. Warner hospital, the county home and the county jail, are "in" for a merry Christmas.

At the county home, a delicious dinner will be served at noon, and the somber interiors of the buildings along the Harrisburg road have been festively decorated for the occasion. On the menu of the Christmas dinner, Steward George Patterson has announced stewed chicken, gravy, sweet potatoes, celery, coffee, jelly, mince pie, ice cream and cake.

Through the thoughtfulness of Mrs. D. J. Forney and a group of Gettysburg College and Seminary students, the interiors of the buildings at the county home have been decorated with Christmas greens and colors. There are seventy-five men and women at the county home.

"Treat" Day

Wednesday was "treat" day at the county home. On that day, the directors of the poor treated the inmates and employees to candy, oranges and apples, while Gettysburg Lodge of Elks, 1045, sent a treat of oranges and candy for the women and cigars and tobacco for the men.

Christmas stockings, from the youngest to the oldest patient at the Annie M. Warner hospital, will be hung from the end of each bed for the reception of gifts tonight.

Miss Martha McKay today announced visiting hours in the wards on Christmas Day from 1 until 4 o'clock, instead of from 3 until 4 o'clock.

At The Hospital

Christmas trees, each gaily decorated, have been placed in the wards and in each room of the hospital and in the nurses' home for the Yuletide season, and a sumptuous turkey dinner will be served to all patients in the hospital who are able to assimilate such a meal.

Turkey is to be the chief dish at the county jail. With the turkey will be served all that usually goes with the national bird, according to Sheriff John C. Shearer. There are fourteen prisoners at the jail.

Klan Distributes 25 Xmas Baskets

An unsigned communication, written on official stationery of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, contained the information that the local branch of the Invisible Empire had distributed twenty-five baskets to needy families of Gettysburg. The baskets, read the communication, contained chicken, bread, butter, corn, peas, celery, flour and oranges, and a letter asking those who received a basket to give thanks to Almighty God in an earnest prayer. The communication also contained the information that "this makes over a hundred donations the K. K. K. of Gettysburg has made to needy causes in the last two years regardless of sex or color."

100 MORE BOYS THAN GIRLS IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

Records Show Girls Out-number Male Members In Several High Schools.

The biennial census of Adams county's public school children, compiled at the office of W. Raymond Shank, county superintendent of schools, shows exactly 100 more boys than girls in the elementary schools of the county, while girls outnumber boys in the high schools by 64.

On the basis of the biennial census, the county superintendent and his assistant, Lloyd Keefeauver, are busily engaged working out the age-grade tables, which will be published later in the school bulletin. Some figures in the age-grade tables, however, were available today at the office of County Superintendent Shank.

5176 Students

According to the census of school children, there are 5476 boys and girls in the elementary grades of the county schools, while in the high schools there are 816 pupils. In the elementary schools there are 2788 boys and 2688 girls, while in the high schools, the totals are: Boys, 376; girls, 440. Figures on the total number of scholars in the elementary classes and in the high schools two years ago were not available at Superintendent Shank's office today, although it was stated officially that the number in the elementary grades shows a slight increase, while the number of pupils in the high schools has increased materially in the past two years.

The age-grade tables, compiled from every school in the county, and from children of all ages, serve as a basis of showing how many boys and girls are young for the grades in which they are, the number of normal age for each grade and those who are old for their classes.

Many Under Age

From the compilations already made, it is shown that 296 boys and 331 girls in elementary grades are under age for their schools. The greatest number of boys and girls in the county are in their normal grades, the figures being boys, 1397; girls, 1526.

More children in Adams county schools are over-age for their grades than the number who are under age, that is, more boys and girls have been retarded in their schooling for one reason or another, than the number who are ahead of their normal grades. The number of boys and girls in elementary schools, back of their normal grades, are: Boys, 1095; girls, 831.

Kept On Farms

In percentages, 39.28 per cent of the total numbers of boys in the county's schools are back of their normal grades, while 30.92 per cent of the total number of girls are retarded.

The rather high percentage of retarded male pupils is attributed by officials in the county superintendent's office to the fact that in the rural districts the boys are kept on farms for a longer time, and that the period of their schooling does not equal that of children not similarly employed. Ten and sixty-one hundredths per cent of the boys in the elementary schools are more advanced in their schooling than their ages would otherwise indicate, while 12.31 per cent of the girls are "ahead" of their grades.

SENIORS SING XMAS CAROLS

Members of the senior class of the Gettysburg High School, under the leadership of Miss Anna Smith, supervisor of music in the Gettysburg public schools, sang Christmas carols on the streets of town at midnight and in the "wee sma" hours of morning. Those who heard the carolling said the old Christmas favorites were well sung.

Anderson said Plestenek told him when he collected the rent for August that he expected to be away for some time, but wanted to hold the room. On several occasions Anderson called to collect back rent, but each time the room was locked.

PRIZES READY FOR SHOOTERS

Gettysburg Gun Club Grounds to be Scene of Holiday Event, Beginning Tomorrow Morning

Charles Rosensteel, who has been in charge of the scouting squad of the Gettysburg Gun Club during the past few days, the article sought being fowls for the shoot tomorrow, now reports his work done, and the coops filled with choice birds. These birds will be shot off at still targets, the clay target prizes being separate, although winners may have the turkey and chickens as a choice.

With a continuation of present weather it is more than likely that the traps will be kept busy from the opening shot at 1:30 until darkness stops the sport. The still target shooting will begin in the morning and continue through the day, the present arrangement at the ground being such that both forms of shooting may be run off at the same time. McSherrystown, Hanover, Waynesboro and Harrisburg will be represented, as well as local and Adams county. The traps will be open for practice shooting until 1:00 only, and the first event will be started promptly at 1:30.

Frank Knox will be in charge of the ammunition, Cullison will have charge of the still target shooting and Mose Baur will handle the clay target entries. A handicap committee will be selected on the grounds, assuring all shooters, in addition to those already classified, a fair yardage and an equal chance at every prize.

HUNTER FOUND DEAD WEDNESDAY

Body Found by Searchers Who Set Out to Look For Him Nine Hours After He Disappeared.

Harrisburg, Dec. 24.—Nine hours after he left the home of a relative in Lykens township, near Pillow, yesterday, to go fox hunting, Howard Erdman, 35 years old, of near Hepler, Schuylkill county, was found dead of a gun shot wound.

The body lying in underbrush, a half mile from the relative's home was discovered by a searching party of men and boys, among whom was the man's son, Miles Erdman, 12 years old. Near the body was a shotgun with one barrel discharged. It was evident he had received the full load of the shot at close range.

Erdman before leaving the home of Alexander Williams, the relative, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, complained of feeling ill. For the last several months he has been in ill health and he had gone to the Williams home two weeks ago for a visit to extend over Christmas, taking his son with him.

When he failed to return from the hunting expedition late yesterday, Williams and Erdman's son grew anxious and the searching party was organized. They found the body at 6:30 o'clock.

E. W. Dockey, justice of the peace at Pillow, four miles away, was notified and the body turned over to an undertaker for burial. Coroner Kreider and Dockey are investigating.

Men In Turkish Bath Almost Lose Lives

New York, Dec. 24.—Coal gas filled the dormitory in which a dozen men were sleeping after Turkish baths, Monday morning, in the Cleveland bath, Brooklyn.

They snored on, inhaling death slowly, until one of them began to struggle against it instinctively and awoke. He aroused those about him. One had a police whistle.

"Lot of people overcome by gas inside," they told Sergeant Joseph Prindell, who answered the whistle calls.

Police reserves dragged out nine sleepers who were overcome. The gas emergency squad was summoned and an investigator in a gas helmet went into the cellar and closed the open door of the furnace, from which the gas was escaping. Charles Miller, janitor of the bath, neglected to close it when he banked his fire for the night.

All those overcome are expected to recover.

ADAMS BOOSTS OF EXCELLENT FARMS

Farmers in Pennsylvania are gradually increasing the use of gas and electric power in their farm operations and home life, states F. P. Willits, Secretary of Agriculture, after a study of recent estimates showing the number of farms equipped with gas engines and electric light and power. When compared with estimates based upon county reports made a year ago by L. H. Wible, director, Bureau of Statistics the present figures show that 1,342 or about one per cent more of the total farms of the state have electric light and power. The number of farms having gas engines is estimated at 328 more than a year ago.

The state totals indicate that $6,739 farms or 43 per cent are equipped with gas engines and 20,619 or 10 per cent have electric light and power. Mr. Willits predicts that the number of farms having electric light and power will be greatly increased within the next few years as a result of present efforts being made by the state to solve the problem of rural electric service.

Adams county is listed as having 462 farms equipped with electric light and power. 45 per cent of the farms have gas engines.

Blind Sisters Get Sight For Christmas

Huntington, W. Va., Dec. 24.—Two mountain girls, blind since birth, walked from a Huntington hospital Wednesday and marveled at the wonders they gazed upon. Their sight had been restored, a Christmas gift from their mountain neighbors and a Huntington surgeon.

The girls, Fay Cook, 17, and her sister, Mayme, 24, suffered from congenital cataracts. In their remote mountain home of Lorado, Logan county, they had about given up hope of ever gaining use of their eyes, and were educating themselves in the methods of the blind, when kindly disposed neighbors interested Dr. C. M. Hawes, of Huntington. The doctor said he was willing to perform the delicate operation necessary without costs.

The neighbors, anxious to have the girls back home by Christmas, hurriedly subscribed a fund to defray hospital expenses. The operation was a success.

Mrs. Coolidge Cuddles Cripple In Hospital

Washington, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Coolidge, on a Christmas visit to the Children's Hospital yesterday, cuddled a tiny cripple who had become frightened at a photographers' flashlight, kissed away his tears and made him about the happiest youngster in town.

Santa Claus was giving a party, and the president's wife went from ward to ward, admiring the tree and the gifts. She stopped at the bed of a little red-haired girl, and the photographers suggested a picture, with other children as a background.

A 3-year-old boy whispered to Mrs. Coolidge, "I scared—take me in lap." She did, and when she urged him to "look at the funny man taking the picture," the child grinned.

White House Xmas Tree Is Received

Washington, Dec. 24.—The spruce at the White House will be celebrated around a neat little spruce tree, which arrived by express Monday addressed "To President Calvin Coolidge." It is symmetrical and stands about four feet high.

Coolidge, the president's father, has been invited to Washington, but it is not expected that he will leave Vermont before Christmas.

Noted Publisher Dies On Tuesday

New York, Dec. 24.—Frank A. Munsey, who rose from farm boy to be one of the leading newspaper and magazine publishers of the country, died Tuesday in the Lenox Hill Hospital after a stubborn fight to recover from peritonitis, which followed an operation for appendicitis.

His death ended an extensive career in the publishing field, during which he had owned almost a score of newspapers and magazines, but at the time of his death he held only two newspapers—the New York Sun and the Evening Telegram. Until the time of his fatal illness he remained actively interested in his publications. He was 71 years old and was unmarried.

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 24.—After covering fifteen miles of his intended 150-mile bicycle trip to Schenectady, New York, to have Christmas dinner with "Auntie Nanny," 9-year-old John Weaver was stopped by an inquisitive policeman on the northern city line of Yonkers Monday and held for the arrival of his mother, Mrs. Rosalie Weaver, of New York City.

TWO JAILED FOR THEFT OF OTHERS

One Innocent Man Is Serving Sentence of 25 Years; "Sense of Justice" Prompts Confession.

New York.—Saying their "sense of justice" prompted them to act, two prisoners in Dannemora Prison made affidavit that they had committed a silk truck holdup for which one other man already has begun a twenty-five-year term in Sing Sing, and another is in the Tombs awaiting trial. The affidavit said the men arrested for the holdup were not guilty, and were unknown to the guilty men who sought to free them.

The affidavits were made by John Rigley, alias John Burke, and Edward Hart, who are serving long terms in Dannemora for complicity in a holdup in which a detective was killed. Their statement said they were the men who engineered another holdup, in which $21,000 work of silk was taken, and a truck driver wrapped in a blanket and dumped in a deserted street.

For that robbery John Hoey, 29, of Weehawken, New Jersey, was sentenced to Sing Sing last July by Judge Mancuso in general sessions and Walter McCarthy is in the Tombs waiting to be tried as his accomplice. Rigley and Hart said Hoey and McCarthy were in no way implicated in the theft of the silk.

LOCK 6 IN VAULT, THEN STEAL $30,000

Strawn, Texas, Dec. 24.—Three robbers late Monday forced three customers and three officials of the First National Bank here into the vault and escaped in an automobile with $30,000 in money and Liberty bonds.

The robbers had gained a fifteen-minute start when those in the vault took the combination from the door and effected their release. A posse gave chase but the robbers had eluded capture Monday night.

AIR TANK SAVES TROLLEY WRECK

Winkes-Barre, Dec. 24.—An air tank on the bottom of a street car catching on the retaining wall of a cross-over bridge at Duryea Monday prevented it from plunging to the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks twenty feet below. The car, loaded with passengers, was derailed by a stone on the track.

Cities Take Over State Forest Lands

A surprising number of cities in Pennsylvania have exercised authority granted by the legislature for acquisition of surrounding forest lands for park purposes.

The city of Bradford has 7,200 acres; Altoona, 1,500; Easton, 1,100; Harrisburg, 887; Pittsburgh, 400; Tamaqua, 387; Reading, 303, and Sharon, 300.

In all, 27 cities have acquired 14,846 acres.

Philadelphia, according to a recent report of the Art Jury, has never exercised this authority. The Art Jury has recommended the establishment of a state parks near Philadelphia—one running along the high ridge west from Valley Forge forming the north side of the Chester Valley, and the other the valley of Perkiomen Creek, running northeast from the Schuylkill Valley toward the Delaware.

FORGOTTEN NOTE COSTS MAN $6522

Anderson, Ind., Dec. 24.—An old note cost Winfield Durbin, former governor of Indiana, the sum of $6522. Forty-four years ago he borrowed $225 from his wife and gave her the note, bearing 8 per cent interest.

Both of them forgot about the note until Durbin found it in cleaning out an old desk. He promptly figured the interest and gave his wife a check.

BLACKSTONE AT ORPHEUM IN YORK DECEMBER 31

The attraction at the Orpheum theatre, York, next Thursday, December 31, will be the appearance of Blackstone, the master magician, whose work has been compared with that of Herrman and Kellar. Blackstone is the man who is said to have the cleverest hands in the world and his performance is conceded to be one of the most entertaining, as well as mystifying, ever given on a stage. He has a varied program of small magic and one trick follows the other so quickly that an hour passes in laughter and amazement. Between the first and second parts of the entertainment there is introduced a musical act that in itself is a big feature of any performance, and prepares the way for the master magician to offer his illusions, spirit manifestations and levitation demonstration. This latter is said to be a wonderful achievement and is performed under the close scrutiny of a committee from the audience. Its completion leaves them completely mystified. Blackstone has not forgotten the children. At every performance he presents a number of features that will appeal to them, for he knows that every child likes a magic performance.

NOTICE FARMERS

It is with pleasure I am blowing my horn to let you know that it paid some farmers to employ Dr. Hudson, as their veterinarian. Within the last year from January 1st, 1925, I have had under treatment 2,024 head of live stock. My loss out of the above number is just eleven head. Now get together farmers, count them up yourselves, then decide on your next veterinarian.

Yours respectfully,

INSTALLMENT 14

McDonald put his latch-key in the lock, turned it, and pushed the door open. "Welcome home, Jim," he called over his shoulder. "Come, step right in."

"Well, Mac," he said, "how's the world been treating you? Why is it that I find the Croesus of the campus living—you'll pardon the frankness—in this rat-hole? How have the mighty fallen? Tell me; I want to know." And, as he spoke, he changed his position in the chair like lightning. He leaned forward expectantly with an almost feverish intensity. "Tell me," he repeated; "I want to know."

"Uncle Tobias disinherited me," "Woman, or literature?" "What do you mean, Jim?"

The reason of course. Why did Uncle Tobias disinherit you? Are temperate, well behaved young gentlemen disinherited for drunkenness? No. For other bad habits? No. Two things are left: woman and ambition. Which is it? Why did the English language?"

had she had been! Since then he had tried in every way to cheer her, to wipe out of her mind the horror of that night. But all his attempts had failed; and once, finding her in an unguarded moment, he had learned the true reason why they had failed.

It was not a healthy sorrow that had made Dorothy what she was, that had changed her in an instant from a laughing girl into a silent, sombre woman, that had robbed her of the buoyancy of youth—no, it was not a healthy sorrow, for it was mixed with a bitter potion of remorse. Calmly, almost coldly, she had told him that she blamed herself for what had happened; that she felt convinced that, if she had not taken the baby in from the street, all this might never have happened. And although he had tried to persuade her differently, although he had struggled with this fixed idea; still, when he had left her, he knew that he had failed.

"You know something of this, Mac?" continued the young lawyer, bending forward hungrily. "Tell me, now; I want to know."

"I don't know anything more about the robbery than was in the newspapers," said Hector wearily. "I happen to know the family, that's all."

"Which one in particular, Mac?"

"You're the damndest man for seeking information I ever saw! What good could it possibly do you to know? Well, if you must: it's Miss Dorothy Arlington."

"Engaged to her?"

"Yes—in a way."

"Father opposed to match?"

"Very much so, I imagine. Still, his character has changed lately."

"How changed? Since his grandson's sickness?"

"Yes, it affected him very much. No one suspected that he cared for the child. Certainly he never went out of his way to prove it. Yet Dorothy tells me he was all broken

"What's your name, my little man?"

"Now I see what you are driving at. You're so quick that you take a man's breath away. It was my ambition—my literature—that did it."

"I see. Are you going to quit?"

"My writing? No, of course not."

"Are you going to starve?"

"Well, it looks very much that way, Jim. But for heaven's sake take off those eye-glasses! You shouldn't wear them. They're not becoming. You didn't have them at college."

"No, I didn't. I'll take them off. Here, have a look at them. Do you see anything peculiar?"

McDonald took the eye-glasses from a hand that shot out like a released spring, and examined them carefully. Finally he put them on his nose, and peered through them at his friend. "Why, they're not at all powerful!" he said.

"No, just plain glass. A dodge, a trick. Gives the intellectual look. Hides the expression in my eyes. Good to wear while examining witnesses."

"That's so, you're a full-fledged lawyer now. Have you had many cases?"

"None that I wanted. Stupid cases! A dog thief, a tipsy sailor for assault and battery. What fun is there in that? No wonder that lawyers lose imagination these days. All the clever criminals stay out of jail, and the trials aren't worth sitting through. Now there was the murder of old Glover in his conservatory. That looked promising. What happened? Nothing. The police bungled it; and we never had any trial. Then there was the case of Arlington's grandson and the disappearing baby. But, hello, what's the matter? You know something about that, eh?"

McDonald had started involuntarily at that familiar name, for it conjured up the memory of the last few months—the memory of what had followed Tommy's sickness. He seemed to see Dorothy, as he had seen her on that day when he learned the news. How pale and Several times she has found him crying in the library. If you knew him as well as I do, that would sound almost impossible."

"Remorse, regret. Watering his heart with tears. Flowers may grow there. But no clues?—no clues to the robbery? No circumstantial evidence?"

"There's only one piece of circumstantial evidence that I know of," said Hector. "As you are a friend of mine, I'll give it to you. Only one other person knows it; and probably she's forgotten. On the day of the murder I was at Arlington's house. I was alone with Dorothy—talking about writing. Now, listen, Jim. I claimed that the only way to break into the magazines was by first breaking into jail. I said that, if I strangled little Tommy or knocked Uncle Tobias over the head, I could sell every murder story that I had ever written. I suppose you'd call that circumstantial evidence, wouldn't you?"

"Strangled little Tommy!" muttered the lawyer, drawing his cheeks in and then puffing them out. "Strangled little Tommy! Did you say that, Mac?"

"Yes, Jim, those were my exact words."

"Then let me give you a piece of advice. You don't want to be telling everybody you see. Men have been arrested for less than that. It shows that the idea was in your mind."

"It has been for a long time," said McDonald thoughtfully. "I don't mean the idea of murdering anybody; but the idea of being arrested for some crime that I had never committed,—of causing a big stir in the papers, and then at the trial of being proved innocent on an alibi or something. It would be my making. I would be a literary light before I came out of jail."

"You're not the only one who has dreams," said the tall young man. "I've had them myself. There's a hunch coming into my life some

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS
From George Matthew Adams,
head of a syndicate in New York City which supplies newspapers with various features for the news columns and through which this newspaper obtains the "Eddie Guest" poems, comes a sentiment beautifully expressed on the eve of another Christmas Day which The Times passes along to its ever growing family of readers and business friends as best expressive of our own feelings:
The most far reaching and important event in all history was when they sent word out from that little town of Bethlehem that a baby had been born to Mary and Joseph and that his name was to be Jesus.
Though that tiny figure was to be the most powerful in influence of all men born of woman, there was no pomp to the event. It was all simple. A simple and upright father and mother. And simple, everyday shepherds who came to glory in the event.
They didn't fully realize then that this birth was to be the symbol of love and service that was to run through the course of all history and make all mankind as one.
But that has since proved to be the case.
Jesus had but one aim, one purpose—to bring richness and beauty and happiness into all lives, no matter what the station—servant of all.
Jesus was practical. Else what He taught then, and what has since become the most wonderful religion of all time—Love and

Just Folks

CHRISTMAS EVE
It's such a happy world tonight.
A world of laughter and delight.
The glow in little eyes excels
The twinkling stars, and all the bells
Of Christmas time, world-wide, are drowned
By childhood's happier, sweeter sound
And even hearts, long used to grieve,
Grow brave again on Christmas Eve.
Wherever little children flower
Is perfect joy, this happy hour.
Service—would not have worked.
Today it is working. It will always work when it is used. And work to the glory and happiness of all who put it into their lives

The time has come! and now they race
With laughter to the chimney place
To hang their stockings up with glee.
In all the pomp of pageantry
There is no ceremonial rite
Like this glad scene of Christmas night.
Here is a lovely drama played
By innocence and faith unswayed!
This is the long-awaited day,
When every doubt is put away!
This is God's ceremonial night
When children world-wide over light and then give it away.
We hope that this will be a happy Christmas time for you who serve with your newspaper.
We wish you all—all your helpers, as well as you who lead in their guidance from day to day—a Christmas time of unusual joy.
Thank you for being a friend of this concern. Thank you for all your encouragement. And a prosperous New Year to you.

With love and happiness and mirth
Each nook and corner of the earth.
Age long-grown weary by distrust.
Doubting at times that God is just,
And often wondering if the care
And pain which it is asked to bear
Are all worth while, forgets its fears,
And all the burdens of the years;
Ceases in bitterness to grieve
And comes to peace on Christmas Eve.

Miners Flee Fire
In Ohio Valley Pit

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 24.—Fire broke out Tuesday in the Webb Mine, at Shadyside, Ohio, one of the largest mines in the Ohio Valley. Wheeling police were informed by telephone in a request for a mine rescue car. Seventy-five to one hundred men at work were reported leaving the workings through an air course.

Only meager details of the fire were available. The Webb mine, though seven miles south of here and about two miles from the town of Shadyside, is located on roads that are almost impassable at this time of the year. It is the property of the George M. Jones Coal Company, Pittsburgh.

Merry Christmas

CHIRSTMAS always has meant a time when men wish everyone all the happiness there is. Big heartedness is in the air at Christmas time. Everyone is letting the old leather heart soften a little, and the old stone face smile a little. It is easy to feel this way at Christmas time. Old Mr. Tightwad gives his wife a $10 bill. Old Mr. Greed has to lock himself in his safe to keep from reducing the rent of all his tenants. Old Mr. Grouch wins back his right to start new by actually smiling. Old Mr. Enemy makes you love him by looking a bit sorry for what he has done to you. It is easy to love everybody at Christmas time, because everybody is doing his part. Love is reflected in love.

So tomorrow when we are gathered around the festive Christmas board we will think of you and the joy it was to sell you your Christmas gifts, and hope that each thing you bought from us was received with the same love in which it was given.

Now accept from us our heartfelt wish for the very MERRIEST CHRISTMAS you have ever had.
